The Great Eastern Storm.

CHICAGO, May 29.—Dispatches received this morning show that the severe rain storms prevailed all through Kansas, Illinois, Ohio, Minnesota, Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska Sunday and yesterday. In Illinois considerable damage was done to crops, and a number of cattle and horses were killed by hail. In Iowa the rain descended in torrents and the hail was terrible. The hail stones were as large as eggs and were piled up in the ground from two to four feet deep in places. The damage to crops and fruit is very heavy. In Nebraska two children were drowned while crossing a little stream which had frozen into a torrent by the heavy rains. Near Sioux City, Iowa, the Missouri river is again on a rampage, doing great damage. In Kansas small grains were badly laid down, and fell with great force, tearing the shingles off of houses and cutting live stock till they were covered with blood.

WELLSVILLE, N. Y., May 29.—Twenty business blocks were unroofed and the Baptist church badly damaged here yesterday afternoon. Only two or three persons were injured. Heavy rain added to the damage. Windows were broken by hundreds. The storm swept in from the southwest, New York, felling trees and doing general damage. A church and several buildings were wrecked at Allentown and many of the derricks in the Allegheny field were blown down.

PITTSBURG, May 29.—The storm which swept over eastern Ohio, West Virginia and western Pennsylvania yesterday afternoon was of a very destructive character and the aggregate loss to buildings, crops, and railroad and telegraph lines will foot up many thousand dollars. Several lives were also sacrificed and a number of persons injured. About Point Pleasant and Huntington, West Virginia, at Canton, Ohio, Beaver county, Pennsylvania and Brownsville the storm was particularly severe, the hail falling in torrents, while the wind was very violent.

Near Havensdale, Mr. and Mrs. William Powell were killed by lightning while sitting in their home. At Charlestown, W. Va., Mrs. Robert Shannon was killed by a falling tree. At Bridgeport, Ohio, the 6-year-old son of Joseph Powell was caught by a rush of water in a spring house and drowned. Two companions made a narrow escape. At Bellaire, Ohio, a railroad brakeman named Castellen was killed while endeavoring to manage a train during the storm. At Canton, Ohio, houses were lifted from their foundations and the steeples of several churches were wrecked. The south wing of the new Hampden watch works, two hundred feet in length and three stories high, was blown down, and is a total wreck, and the Deuber watch case works were badly damaged.

At Oil City the roof of the Arlington hotel was blown off and the guests rushed from the building panic-stricken. Titusville also suffered severely. Frank Burchfield, of Pleasantville, closing Pine creek bridge in a buggy, was blown over into the water. The vehicle was reduced to splinters and the horse lifted bodily and carried one hundred yards away. About this city the storm was not so heavy, but specials from many other points represent hail falling as large as hens' eggs. Telegraph lines are down badly and in many places the railroad tracks are covered with debris from the hills. The damage to orchards has been particularly heavy, many trees in the regions visited by the hail being stripped of every leaf, and other crops suffered in a corresponding degree. The total loss will probably reach several hundred thousands of dollars.

Tariff Amendments.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Democratic members of the committee on ways and means has had under consideration an amendment proposed by Springer of Illinois, to place upon the free list such articles on the dutiable list as are controlled as to their product and price by trusts and combinations, but did not report upon the subject to the caucus. It is understood that the committee is averse to the proposition, although it recognizes the necessity of legislation which will prevent perpetuation of the pool system. The argument against the Springer amendment is that it will be prejudicial to the interests of manufacturers of articles who have not entered into trusts, and it is probable that an amendment will be reported placing an internal revenue tax upon such dutiable articles made by manufacturers who have entered into trusts.

Guarding American Interests.

PORT ROYAL, S. C., May 29.—The United States steamer Yantic, under orders to proceed to Port au Prince, Hayti, as soon as possible, and look after American interests there, as it has been reported that a revolution is imminent, to day commenced taking in provisions, and by to-night expects to sail. The Yantic is the smallest vessel in the North Atlantic squadron and carries four heavy guns, besides the regular allowance of machine guns. It is expected that the Atlanta will be despatched to Port au Prince in case the Yantic's forces cannot manage the revolutionists.

Chinese in Australia.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., May 29.—The cabinet has resolved to appeal to the legislative council against the decision of the supreme court granting writs of habeas corpus to Chinamen paying poll tax. Orders have been issued to strictly enforce penalties upon vessels carrying more Chinamen than the number allowed in proportion to their tonnage. The steamer Benmuir has returned to Hong Kong, carrying 35 Chinese not allowed to land. The steamer Changsa, off the harbor with 150 Chinamen on board, is being watched by the police.

THE SICK SOLDIER.

General Sheridan Retains All His Improvement.

At Last Accounts he Was Sleeping Naturally.

Senators Vote to Revive the Rank of General.

Frye Against Ratification of the Fisheries Treaty.

Sheridan's Condition.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Sheridan is reported much better this morning, and his military aides express themselves as feeling encouraged that he has a fair chance of recovery. There was an air of cheerfulness about the members of the household that indicated better than words that there had been a decided change for the better in the sick soldier's condition. The first intelligence of his condition came from Colonel Blount, who remained at the house all night. He left it about 6.30 o'clock to go home for breakfast, and as he passed the newspaper men in waiting said the general had a very comfortable night and that one of the physicians told him a few minutes before that the general "was doing splendid." "Everything seems to be more favorable now," said Colonel Blount, "and Mrs. Sheridan and all of us feel much encouraged. But then you know the disease is still there, and no one can tell what will happen."

Col. Kellogg relieved Col. Blount, and after spending some little time in the house with the physicians and members of the family appeared on the front porch at six o'clock and conversed freely about the case. "The general slept well during the night," said he, "and now appears to be much refreshed; his sleep was natural and restful and not caused by narcotics of any kind. His respiration also was easier, and more natural and there was no occasion to resort to oxygen treatment at all."

There were the usual number of callers during the morning, and attendants at the door seemed to take especial pleasure in dilating on the general's improvement. One of the prettiest sights of the morning was when the general's three little girls stopped in the midst of their play on the beautiful lawn surrounding the house and gathered some flowers to be sent to their afflicted father.

Physicians met in consultation about eight o'clock and prepared a bulletin announcing continued improvement of their patient since the favorable turn indicated in the bulletin issued last evening.

At 11.45 it was reported from the sick chamber that the favorable condition indicated in the morning bulletin had been fully maintained; indeed, not an unfavorable symptom or condition had appeared since the change for the better noted in the 8.30 bulletin last night. The general sleeps at intervals without artificial aid, while not a trace of recurrence of edema has so far made its appearance, and all things considered the general is confidentially believed by his attending physicians to be really better.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—A bulletin issued at 1 a. m. says: General Sheridan is sleeping quietly, without the aid of narcotics; no change to chronicle.

Finish Congress.

SENATE

WASHINGTON, May 29.—A message was read from the president returning without his approval the bill appropriating $70,000 for a public building at Youngstown, Ohio.

Sherman said the people of Youngstown and its vicinity and the people of Ohio would be surprised at the character of the message just read. The people of Youngstown was one of the most flourishing towns of the United States with probably 30,000 inhabitants and with a postal revenue of some $4,000. The reasons given in the president's message seemed to him to be paltry—not a polite phrase—he added. He understood that the president was in favor of a bill reported by the senator from Missouri (Vest) allowing a postoffice building in a town of 4,000 or 5000 inhabitants, and for which he (Sherman) intended to vote when it was put in proper form. He disapproved of the way in which the veto power was asserted in small matters not affecting constitutional power nor any question of discretionary power. Congress, he said, ought to rise above such a level. With the utmost kindness to the president (for he liked him in many respects), he asserted that if the president was thus allowed to veto messages that were passed unanimously, and where the principle was clear, congress would be abnegating its power and surrendering its authority.

Sherman's remarks were replied to by Vest and after considerable debate the message was referred to the committee of public buildings and grounds.

Manderson from the committee on military affairs reported a bill to revive the grade of general of the United States army. He said that its purpose was to revive during the lifetime of the present lieutenant general of the army the grade of general of the army. Both of these grades were to close with the life of Lieutenant General Sheridan. He would not take up the time in referring to the occasion which made the bill a proper one for immediate consideration, and he therefore asked unanimous consent to have the bill now considered.

Berry objected, and the bill was placed on the calendar.

Sherman moved that the senate do now proceed to consideration of the fisheries treaty in open executive session.

The motion was agreed to and the presiding officer declared the senate was now in open executive session for consideration of the fisheries treaty; that the treaty was open to amendment, and that the senator from Maine (Frye) was entitled to the floor.

Frye essayed that the question now before the senate involved the dignity and honor of a great republic and the rights of its citizens. It could be observed by the president of the United States intimating that in event of failure of the treaty he would resort to the law which congress had passed in such a way as should put in jeopardy and might destroy all the business interests of the great north. It could not be rationalized by interviews furnished to the Post-

MANITOU PARK.

A Delightful Summer Resort Coming Into Notice.

The Hotel Accommodation for Tourists and Health Seekers.

Its Attractive and Beautiful Scenery and Favorable Surroundings.

Extensive Facilities for Fish Propagation Established.

El Paso county will soon have the greatest number of summer resorts of any locality in the west, each of which will possess some characteristics of excellence not a possible of location not found in the others. Among these resorts Manitou Park will occupy a prominent and leading position. For the past eight or ten years it has been the favorite resort of a number of Colorado Springs people, but its reputation has been gradually extending and this year the prospects for a most successful season are unusually good.

The park proper is situated twenty miles from Manitou and seven miles from Manitou Park station, on the Colorado Midland railway. It is about ten miles long and has an average width of about three quarters a mile. A small mountain stream flows through the park from south to north, and in some places also is good timber land. The park is dotted with small farms, and resembles an open mountain valley. The roads running through and across it are in excellent condition, and there are many beautiful drives from which fine views can be obtained.

The mountains surrounding it are heavily timbered and abound in all kinds of small and large game. The park is easily accessible and the drive to it from Manitou or from the station is one of the finest in this locality.

Mr. H. G. Thornton, the proprietor of the Manitou Park hotel, has made the most thorough and elaborate preparations to accommodate visitors to the park. The hotel which is one of the largest log buildings in the state is comfortably furnished throughout. In connection with the hotel are five cottages, all furnished; four of which Mr. Thornton will rent to parties for the summer, who will board at the hotel, and the fifth he will reserve for lodging purposes. These cottages are supplied with water which is conveyed to them in pipes.

In connection with the hotel, Mr. Thornton has a livery stable, with accommodations for forty head of horses. He is prepared to furnish guests at the hotel with saddle or driving horses, and has a large number of vehicles in the stable. Parties wishing to take their own horses to the park can procure board for them at the stable.

The hotel is situated on a commanding and attractive eminence, with the cottages arranged in the form of a semi-circle around it. A stage will meet all the day trains on the Midland and guests can receive their mail daily. The culinary department will be in charge of the same cook whom Mr. Thornton has employed for several years past. He was formerly the chief cook at Charpiot's hotel at Denver. Those who visited the hotel last year can testify that its table accommodations were excellent and far above the average of those generally found at Rocky mountain summer resorts.

Among those who will occupy cottages at the park during the summer are Mr. A. F. Carpenter and family, Mrs. E. Gwynne and family, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Glockner, Col. W. T. De Forest and Mr. O. Metcalf and family, all of this city. A number of Colorado Springs and Denver parties have engaged rooms at the hotel.

Mr. A. E. Lyons will have the sole management of the hotel during the season. He formerly had charge of the Mountain house at Cresson, Pa., and was until recently connected with Younger's noted hotel at Pittsburg. He will spare no efforts to add to the comfort and pleasure of the guests at the hotel.

Last summer Mr. Thornton associated himself in partnership with Mr. Gordon Land, an experienced pisciculturist. These gentlemen constructed three large ponds fifty yards long, one lake covering fourteen acres, and twenty-two small ponds. They stocked them last summer with trout, which they have been supplying to the Leadville and Colorado Springs markets for some time. Brigham & Herman of this city receive consignments of the trout on Wednesday of each week. A short time ago Messrs. Thornton and Land put into the ponds over 100,000 small speckled trout, which will be ready for the market next winter. Sufficient large trout are now in the ponds to supply the hotel table during the summer.

Sheridan's Memoirs.

NEW YORK, May 29.—A year and a half ago General Sheridan began writing his memoirs. The manuscript was ready on May 15, and the publishers announced yesterday that they had the book in hand. A member of the firm said last night that General Sheridan had written a very interesting narrative of his life. He had used the first person, and his book read like a romance. It was full of the general's adventures from the time of his graduation at West Point at 22 to the Franco-Prussian war, of which he was a spectator. In simple language he had given a graphic account of his Indian fights and his part in the late war. Frequently the writing was strong, and showed a clever literary hand. He had given a masterly account of his memorable ride from Winchester. The date of publication has not yet been determined upon.

The Granger Land and Town Co.

Now Offers For Sale the Entire

Town Site of Granger,

EL PASO COUNTY, COLORADO.

GRANGER is situated on the line of the Denver, Texas & Gulf R. R., about 18 miles northeast of Colorado Springs, in the center of the best Agricultural District in Colorado The rainfall is sufficient to perfect good crops, and irrigation is entirely unnecessary. All the available land within a radius of twenty five miles has been taken up by bona fide settlers, and improvements are rapidly being made on all the occupied land

Granger has one of the best Town Sites in the State It commands an extended view in every direction The site is almost perfectly level with a slight fall to the southeast Water is obtainable within 10 feet of the surface on the entire Town Site. The streets are all 80 feet in width and the lots are all 50x150, excepting the business lots, which are 25x150 feet The town lies on both sides of the railroad The Surveyed Line of THE CHICAGO AND ROCK ISLAND RAILROAD Runs Parallel with that of the DENVER, TEXAS & GULF RAILROAD through the Center of the Town, and forms a Junction with the latter at this point, and will be the Construction Headquarters of Rock Island Extension in Colorado. Granger is destined to become an important town in the near future by reason of its location It is an Objective Point on the lines of all the Railroads now heading for the Rocky Mountains and also from the fact that it is located in a Rich and Fertile Region where good water is reached at a shallow depth It is an important Shipping Point for the D, T & G R R for a large section of country In the matter of business handled Granger ranks third on the line of the road

The lots will be sold on the popular Allotment Plan as follows

PRICE: $25.00 Each.

The drawing for location, the notice of which will be given will occur not later than June 1st next, and will be conducted by a competent committee selected by the certificate holders The company will include in the drawing every alternate lot in the entire town site as platted, beginning with lot 1 in each block, reserving only numbers 1 2 3 4 5 6 18 and 19 in block 1 number 11 in block 2 numbers 1, 21 and 22 in block 11, numbers 17, 18 and 32 in block 12 numbers 15 and 16 in block 21, number 18 in block 22, number 17 in block 31, numbers 1, 2 and 3 in block 41, and block 23

All these lots have been sold and the object in reserving thus each alternate lot throughout the entire plat, and selling the other at the low price of $25 when there is not a lot in the entire site but what is well worth $100 (some of the reserved lots also erroneously have been sold at this figure), is to enhance the value of property reserved by inducing the purchasers to build and improve over the entire plat After the drawing prices will be advanced on lots reserved Lots will be for sale for only a limited time at the following places

H. W. WHITNEY,
Manager of the GAZETTE.

The Denver News published yesterday a double leaded editorial in favor of Commissioner Black as a candidate for the vice presidency, but it was a useless task. The democratic party may nominate a man from Illinois but if so the candidate will be Morrison or General Stevenson, either of whom would be a stronger candidate than Black. It is more than likely, however, that the candidate will be from Indiana, as it is better to make sure of Indiana than try to capture a strong republican state like Illinois.

The Providence Journal says: The soundest republicans, to-day, are to be found in the great northwest. The Springfield Republican comments sympathetically on this statement and says: "There is a new manifestation of sober deliberation and uplifting impulses in the northwest and west which may exercise a controlling influence at Chicago." Illustrating this, it says: "Illinois has declared for Judge Walter Q. Gresham, of Indiana. Minnesota follows her lead, Indiana holds him as second choice, Missouri gives him from [illegible] and other states and districts are ready to fall into line. He is likely to receive in the neighborhood of one hundred and fifty votes." The papers, generally, throughout the east seem to look upon the Gresham movement as founded upon a demand for a candidate to represent the purest sentiments and loftiest aspirations of the republican party.

To-day the Grand Army of the Republic will generally throughout the land unite in decorating the graves of those soldiers who were killed during the war or have since died. This beautiful custom was inaugurated in 1868. On the fifth of May in that year, General Logan, then commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, issued the first general order for the observance of this day. It may please some of the members of the Grand Army to read a part of that order, which was one of the most eloquent utterances of General Logan. He said:

"We should guard their graves with sacred vigilance. All that the combined wealth and resources of the nation can add to their adornment and security is but a fitting tribute to the memory of her dead defenders. Let no wanton foot tread rudely on such hallowed grounds. Let pleasant paths invite the coming and going of reverent visitors and fond mourners. Let no vandalism of avarice or neglect, no ravages of time testify to the present or to the coming generations that we have forgotten as a people the cost of a free and undivided republic. If other eyes grow dull and other hands slack, and other hearts cold to the solemn trust, ours shall keep it well as long as the light and warmth of life remain to us. Let us, then, at the appointed time, gather, round their sacred remains and garland the passionless mounds above them with the choicest flowers of spring-time; let us raise above them the dear old flag they saved from dishonor; let us in this solemn presence renew our pledge to aid and assist those whom they have left among us, sacred charges upon a nation's gratitude, the soldier's and sailor's widow and orphan."

After a lapse of twenty years this custom is more generally observed than ever before. In this time Grant, Thomas, McClellan, Hancock, Logan, Rawlins, Blair, Hooker, Meade, Burnside and many other of the old commanders have passed away, but reverently and affectionately the comrades that are left have performed this pious duty. A larger number will participate in these services in this city than ever before. Those of our people who have the time should participate in these services and show their respect for those who fought for the old flag.

STATE NEWS.

Light snow fell in Georgetown and Central City last Sunday.

The Del Norte land office has been reopened, after having been closed for a long time.

The Denver & Rio Grande Railroad company have decided to build a bridge over the Grand river at Glenwood Springs.

A convention having for its object the securing of a deep water port on the gulf will probably be called to meet in Denver in July. Delegates will be appointed in all the states and territories west of the Mississippi river.

Some difficulty is being experienced by the board of county commissioners of La Plata in securing a statement of the county's finances from John Reid, who was recently ousted from the office of county treasurer by the state supreme court.

Chicago, May 29.—The city council last evening passed a new saloon ordinance which restricts the location of saloons hereafter to be established, but in no way interferes with those already in existence; and also provides for keeping front doors closed and blinds drawn on Sunday. It is in the nature of a compromise on the part of the saloon interest, but falls short of meeting the views of the anti-saloon element of the community.

A Match Arranged.

Ashland, Wis., May 29.—The California Athletic club has written Hayes backer of Mike Conley, the "Irish Giant," saying they would match McAuliffe Maroney of Queensbury rules for from $2,000 to $5,000. Hayes has wired acceptance and [illegible] will be forwarded [illegible] match to come off in San Francisco in August.

The Papal Rescript.

London, May 29.—The Rome correspondent of the Daily News says: Irish clergy will shortly receive orders from the episcopate to make every effort to alleviate the bad impression produced by the rescript. Its purely religious character will be emphasized and all political intention disclaimed.

HON. WILLIAM S. GROESBECK.

Something About a Well Known Western Man.

[Special Correspondence.]

Cincinnati, May 21. William S. Groesbeck is best known in Cincinnati, though he is well known to the whole country. His father came to this city when there was no town west of the Alleghanies [illegible] of the Queen City when there was no town west of the Alleghanies. The elder Groesbeck used to sit in the old Second Presbyterian church of Cincinnati, surrounded by his family, when Lyman Beecher, the father of the celebrated Beecher family, preached there. William S. Groesbeck was born in New York, but came to Cincinnati with his father when he was very young.

The young man had every opportunity for his father was a successful merchant. The son, after securing a fine education, studied law and practiced at the bar of Cincinnati. He occupied various positions in state conventions and committees and was in congress from December, 1857, to March, 1859, serving on the committee of foreign affairs. He was a member of the peace congress in 1861 and of the Ohio state senate in 1862.

W. S. GROESBECK.

Mr. Groesbeck became well known from having been one of President Johnson's counsel during the celebrated impeachment trial of 1868. Mr. Groesbeck was afterward nominated for the presidency by a convention of Liberal Republicans who were dissatisfied with Horace Greeley, but the ticket drew no following. In 1878 he was appointed to the international monetary congress held in Paris. One of his daughters married an English nobleman, Earl Digby.

Mr. Groesbeck is a tall, fine looking man, who would appear well in any prominent position in which he might be placed. Had he been appointed to the supreme justiceship of the United States, as was at one time rumored probable, he would doubtless have been considered one of the most imposing chief justices who ever sat on the supreme bench.

There were several members of the Groesbeck family of Mr. William S. Groesbeck's generation, and all wealthy by inheritance. A sister married Gen. Hooker, and dying a few years after their marriage left him the whole of her immense fortune. A brother ended a residence of ten years in New York tragically. He lived at the Fifth Avenue hotel, and was occupied speculating in Wall street. He was a very accurate and a very good man, and no one knew that he was gradually losing all of his fortune, estimated at [illegible]. One [illegible] and soon after his body was found floating in the North river. Then it was discovered that, having been made bankrupt, he had committed suicide. It seems that his action, however, came rather from pride than necessity, for other members of his family were immensely rich and would have supplied any want liberally.

Mr. William S. Groesbeck has always been the most prominent member of the family. He is a fine lawyer and estimable man. He would be eligible for a position of prominence in Washington by reason of his independence through his fortune. M. A. F.

When Your Subscription Expires.

If a subscriber does not want to renew, he has only to do one of two very simple things. He may send a postal card to the publishers, saying simply, "Stop my paper," and there is an end of the matter; or he may refuse to take the paper from the postoffice. In the latter case, the postmaster is required by law to notify the publisher that his paper addressed to So and So has unclaimed in his possession, because it has been refused by the person to whom it was addressed. It is easy enough for the subscriber to stop his paper, with little or no trouble. If he does not notify the publication office, and continues to take the paper from the postoffice, he is liable to pay for that paper, some time. The most slovenly and unsatisfactory thing that he can do is to put a stamp on a copy of the paper itself, and return it with out a word of explanation to the publisher. Nine times out of ten the publisher does not know where the returned paper comes from, and even if it bears the name of the person and address, he is likely to overlook it in the flood of papers that pours into every publication office in the country.

The best way, when a paper is continued beyond the time for which it was ordered, is either to renew the subscription promptly, or to send a postal card ordering the paper stopped. Of course, it is possible to say when you first subscribe that you want the paper stopped at the expiration of subscription, and publishers will always stop a paper at the proper time when so directed.—The Writer.

Useful Method of Abbreviation.

As a method of abbreviation I would suggest the following style, which I have found very useful. It is simply to write just enough of a word, usually the first half—to suggest the whole, leaving blank spaces to fill up when the speaker has come to some unimportant point. Take, for instance the following paragraph, which I find in a copy of The Congressional Record lying at hand:

"I have no hesitation in saying that I approve heartily of the principles of the bill, and in the event of its passage, but I would be glad to see the amendment of the senator from Pennsylvania adopted."

Now "outline" the above as follows:

"I h no hes in sa th I app heart o prin o the bill & in the event o its pass, b but I w b glad to see the amen of the sen fr Pen adop."

If the reader will take the trouble count the letters in each of the foregoing paragraphs he will find that there are just as many in the former as in the latter, and consequently such abbreviation would be a reporter's ordinary rate of expense. The outlines are quite as full as the shorthand, and more suggestive.—J. C. Hutchins in The Writer.

There are 22 crematories in Europe, of which 10 have been built within the past year. There have been 600 incinerations in Germany and 300 in Italy. There are 7 crematories in the United States and 6 in process of construction.

Led by Americans.

Nogales, Ariz., May 29.—It has been discovered that the little band of Apache Indians who for the past two years have been committing depredations and murders in Montezuma district Sonora, is led by two Americans named [illegible] and West. Professor Sheldon, who was attacked by the party recently, recognized both men. The same party a few days ago killed a Mexican near the town of Bavispe.

Decoration Day Parade.

Decoration day will be observed quite elaborately in this city. In addition to the parade there will be a muster of exercises in Evergreen cemetery to which the publicity are cordially inviting. It was found necessary yesterday to make a slight change in the programme of court of the marshals of Chapman Kieffer to deliver the address here A. C. Fox and J. B. Gregg have concluded to make brief addresses notwithstanding the short notice given them. Mr. A. F. Hanna, the elocutionist, who was a soldier in the large war, will recite a poem. The following order has been issued by the marshal of the day, L. C. Dana:

The column of parade will be formed on Nevada avenue, right resting on Pike's Peak avenue, and will take up the line of march at 9 a. m., promptly, in the following order:

Signal of Police.
Marshal of the Day.
Bresnan's Band.
A Troop, Colorado National Guard, Wm. Sewell, commanding.
Colorado Springs Post No. 22, T. A. McMorris commanding.
Visiting Comrades.
Patriotic Order Sons of America, W. W. Wood commanding.
Canton Cottas No. 2, I. O. O. F., A. H. Whatte commanding.
Select Knights A. O. U. W., R. B. Taylor commanding.
Ancient Order United Workmen, Joseph Dozier, Master Workman.
Catholic Knights of America, J. D. O'Haire, President.
Knights of Pythias.
Knights of Honor.
Good Templars.
School Children.
Citizens on Foot.
Citizens in Carriages.

The line of march will be as follows: West on Pike's Peak to Tejon, south on Tejon to Cache la Poudre, west on Cache la Poudre to D. T. & F. W. depot, where train will be taken to Cemetery.

Company commanders are requested not to dismiss their commands until after the decoration services at the G. A. R. grounds.

L. C. DANA,
Marshal of the Day.

Knights of Pythias.

At a called meeting of Myrtle lodge No. 31, K. of P., held last evening, the following resolution was adopted:

WHEREAS, This lodge having made no preparations regarding Decoration day on account of not receiving the invitation until Tuesday; therefore be it

Resolved, That we deem it inexpedient to take part in the exercises of the day as a lodge.

F. A. MASSOLD, C. C.

Mr. D. T. Corbin of Fountain was in the city yesterday. He stated that some of the people who were injured by the late explosion are still in a very dangerous condition. Mr. H. P. Bosworth, whose shoulder was badly shattered, is in a very critical condition. Lawrence Wichart, who was out a week ago, has been compelled to resume his bed. The oldest son of Mr. O. S. Loomis, whose leg was amputated, is daily growing weaker, and fears are entertained that he will not recover. Mr. O. S. Loomis, who was severely kicked by a horse on the day of the explosion, is not out of danger. The physicians at Fountain state that Miss Myrtle Bell will not recover the use of her arm, while Mr. Bosworth has been totally deaf in one ear since the explosion.

Stock Markets.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The stock market today except in the first hour was dull and uninteresting but generally strong, though in the first hour there were some violent and wide fluctuations. The result of the day's trading is to leave the list materially higher than last evening. The feeling on the street was very much more bullish than yesterday, and some of the professionals were working for a further rally. London was a buyer and bears inclined to resist the advance. The general tone of the list was firm, however, and the market finally closed dull but about steady. Governments dull and steady.

VERNAL CENTRAL PARK,

WEALTH AND BEAUTY IN CARRIAGES AND ON HORSE BACK.

Out of Door Costumes—Walking Gowns and Wraps—Sling Sleeves—Lawn Tennis Suits—A Bathing Suit Contained in a Small Compass.

(Special Correspondence.)

NEW YORK, May 17.

CENTRAL PARK is now in the height of its glory as far as the splendid carriages with their elegantly dressed occupants are concerned, and the long double line which goes up and down the broad [illegible] after noon, forms a living mosaic in any other country it would be distributed as a work of art, its brilliance, its form. Here it only speaks of an account of the wealth of those of whom it is formed. The number of carriages is great—greater than I dare approximate—and to each is hitched two superb horses, with silver plated clanking harness, and each carriage is as luxurious as it can be made. With no one, two or three ladies, dressed in the most becoming of costumes and astonishing hats. The favorite carriage bonnets are those which offer the largest surfaces to paint flower gardens upon. Gauze strings are very much worn for driving, as they float more gracefully than ribbons, which have an unpleasant fashion of flip-flapping in the wind.

The wraps worn in carriages are blazing and scintillating with beaded work of every color, and in every breast is a bunch of natural flowers. Bouquets of enormous dimensions are carried in the hands also. Carriage dresses are nearly all made on demi-train, and are of rich silks and other such textures in lighter colors than would be permissible on the street. It goes without saying that when my lady rides she takes her dear, darling, little dog along, but very seldom her children or her husband. He is busy week days, and Sundays the very "first chop" do not drive in the park. The fundamental turn outs always belong to the oldest and ugliest women. I have often wondered why that is so, but it is a truth. Perhaps it is a sort of compensation for the loss of all the charms of youth.

MY LADY AND HER DOG.

For riding the laws of fashion do not debar jewels, and you will see diamonds almost too numerous to count as the occupants of the carriages roll along serene and happy, knowing themselves to be so much admired by the vulgar herd. It is a circus. There are many young ladies who drive their little dog carts or phaetons themselves, and very nicely they do it, too, with quite a dexterous cracking of the whip, but still he stood, till a park policeman asked if he should not unhitch the horse. The girl was so mad that she never thanked the guard, and called him a "mean thing" as soon as he was out of hearing.

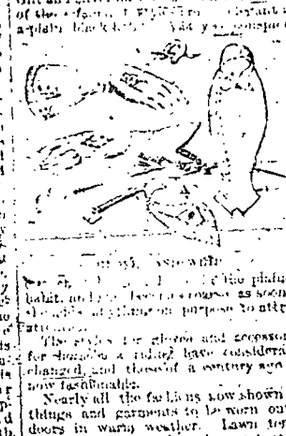
All along the Mall and through the walks can been seen the latest, and prettiest styles in walking gowns and wraps. The neat summer woolen suits are a pleasure to the eye, but the penitential sling sleeve wraps and the torturing high collars [illegible] examples make the real philanthropist weep in sympathy for her suffering sisters.

READY FOR THE PARK.

To wear one of these wraps a woman must stand so straight that she leans over backward a trifle, hold her elbows close to her sides, taking care that she doesn't let their show the prints in the back. This requires diligent practice before the glass sixteen hours a day for seventy days. Then she must get her prettiest dress on, and her new bonnet, a pair of handsome gloves for if she does have to unsling her hand it must be impeachable and throw herself into her wrap, and thus hugging herself as tightly as she would like to have any one else hug her, goes out, a being to pity and commiserate. No matter how tired her unnatural position makes her nor how her poor back aches from the strain upon it, she will keep on and smile through her misery until she reaches home and throws it off, and spanks the children all around as a sort of a safety valve for her nervous agony.

I often thank the stars that I am not as other women, in that I never could for a moment endure such a misery as a sling sleeve wrap, and I thank those astral ladies still more fervently as I watch the agonies of my better half with his stiff shirt bosoms and collars. And yet if I wished to keep up with the fashion I should wear a collar like that illustrated below, and which is called just too ravishing for anything.

All top by paths in Central park are quite [illegible] and they make those lovely [illegible] and morning [illegible] other folks make themselves ridiculous. The newest colors to be worn are [illegible] and black, gray, dark [illegible] and brown. One lady wore [illegible] with a vest of [illegible] which was buttoned down with [illegible] of good dollars. Gilt and [illegible] were big [illegible] of the season. [illegible] as a plain black [illegible] as a complete [illegible]



LAWN TENNIS SUIT.

[illegible] the plainest habit, and [illegible] as soon as [illegible] purpose to attract [illegible]

The styles for gloves and accessories for dress in a riding have considerably changed, and those of a century ago are now fashionable.

Nearly all the fashions now shown are things and garments to be worn out of doors in warm weather. Lawn tennis suits continue to show the most style, except perhaps the dresses designed for Newport. A very pretty tennis suit that I saw recently was made of red and blue striped tennis flannel and a cream flannel. The skirt was plaited, with a short apron drapery in front and flat plaits in the back. The waist was a blouse, with the front opening out in a sailor collar of red surah. The cuffs and sash were of the same. Another more striking than elegant, is offered by another leading house, embroidered in [illegible] ground with tennis rackets and balls. Good taste and simplicity should govern all dresses for young girls. Let them leave the rich goods until the time when they shall need such to attract the eye from their fading charms.

One ultra fashionable young lady was arranging her trousseau yesterday, preparatory to her family's departure for Newport, where they have a fine villa, and she is reported to have carried out lovingly:

"Mamma! I've found my bathing suit that I lost last season, and where do you think it was?"

"I haven't the slightest idea. Where was it?"

"Why, in that little blue enameled locker that I get when I was Carrie A.'s bridesmaid. I remember putting it in now, but I always thought one of those horrid B. girls took it just to spite me."

The fashion is gaining ground to carry a tell tale, with an enormous head. Directoire style, with a bow of ribbons tied upon it. One lady received her guests the other evening, leaning upon one of these canes, and any of the leaders of new modes take them along the streets in their promenades. They require wide brimmed hats to keep off the sun, as, of course, no lady could be expected to carry a cane and a parasol both, or where would be the other hand to lead the pup or cat? Who will start a fashion for monkeys or parrots or revive the old one for [illegible]? There would be plenty of followers, if the right one started it.

OLIVE HARPER.

Victor Hugo's Artistic Work.

Victor Hugo is reaping all the laurels from the Salon. His relatives have collected all his drawings and many other intimate souvenirs of his talent in an artistic line, and these are being exhibited in the Petit gallery. It was a favorite theory of the poet that he could have been a great artist. It is curious to note how little attention the artist gave to color or the kind of material he used. The drawings show that he made use of anything, from an ink bottle to the yellow stain of coffee and milk, from pen and pencil to a blunt stick dipped in mud and water, and out of this ready at hand material he made some marvelous delineations a la Doré of his conceptions. He had no school and nothing to follow but his own cleverness and originality. On the margin of manuscripts he has given his own idea of what image they should create and define, and in many cases these are careful illustrations, wonderful always, and stamped with indelible originality.

From drawings he turned to frame making and wood carving, in the latter evidently inclining to the intricate and minute weirdness of Japanese ideas. There are about 150 drawings, beginning with small sepia sketches and growing into large pen and ink illustrations of castles, rude moated granges, knights, cathedrals, wondrous cities of dreamland, and innumerable sea views purely imaginative. There are many caricatures with legends like the one of the bourgeois trying to decide about the existence of God, and another to tell how a judge anathematized the idea of abolishing capital punishment.—Paris Cor. New York Times.

A Lesson in Charity.

My friend, "Old Moppy," is a cripple. He earns a modest living by making cloth mops (that is also the way in which he earned his nickname) and taking them round on a donkey barrow to the different small shops he supplies. One Saturday last winter, Moppy, as the result of a hard week's work, had exactly three shillings and sixpence left. With that he had to cater for himself, his wife, his family and the donkey. On Sunday, I need hardly say, the menu of his dinner was not of an elaborate character. There was something to eat, but not much. Just as the family were sitting down (the donkey did not join the party, having dined at an earlier hour), old Moppy heard a child crying piteously in an adjoining tenement. He went, in a neighborly way, to ask what was the matter, and discovered, in a large and fireless room, a man, his wife and two little children. The children were crying for food. The parents had none to give them. The family were starving.

Thereupon old Moppy returned to his own apartment, took his Sunday dinner off the table and carried it into the next room and gave it to his less fortunate neighbors. Moppy, his boys and his wife had some dry bread and some cold water, and then went to sleep so as not to feel hungry. There must have been many a grand dinner on that Sunday in the great city, but there were none so grand, in the best sense of the word, as old Moppy's. He didn't tell the story; the starving man told it—told it with grateful tears in his eyes.—London Letter in Philadelphia Times.

A Test for Saccharin.

Dr. L. D. Kastephige tells in Science News how saccharin can be detected. All that is necessary is to treat the sugar with about three times its volume of ether in a closed vessel for twelve hours, with frequent agitations. The ethereal solution is drawn off and evaporated, and the residue carefully ignited in a crucible with carbonate and nitrate of sodium, whereby the saccharin will be converted into sulphate of sodium, and can be estimated as barium sulphate. Care must be used in igniting, as sulphate is decomposed from too intense heat.

T. W. CONNOLLY, Signal Corps.

Mr. George O. Nevins, of Granger, was in the city yesterday.

Colorado Springs vs. Denver on the base ball grounds this afternoon.

There will be a regular meeting of the board of trade next Friday evening.

A man was fined $10 and costs yesterday by the police magistrate for fighting.

Mr. J. B. Kilbourn, the receiver of the Pueblo land office, was in the city yesterday.

All the jewelers of the city have agreed to close their respective places of business to-day.

The water pipes have all been laid in West Colorado Springs and water has been turned into them.

The Denver, Texas & Gulf railroad yesterday began the work of grading for additional side track facilities at Granger.

The Phœnix literary society have issued invitations for its annual reception in the college chapel next Friday evening.

The excursion train for South Park will leave the union depot on East Pike's Peak avenue to-morrow morning at 8 o'clock.

The banks, county offices and many business houses will be closed to-day. The barber shops and postoffice will observe Sunday hours.

A force of men were yesterday engaged in raising the side track of the street railway on Tejon street, between Pike's Peak avenue and Huerfano street.

The street car will be run to and from Colorado City every evening until half past ten o'clock. Manager Van Vechten has put on a theatre car to accommodate the Colorado City people.

The notary public who will take the testimony in the Merrill-Stevens aldermanic contest has not yet been selected. Mr. T. J. Fisher was requested to take the testimony but declined.

At a special meeting of the Young Men's Republican club held on Monday evening the election of delegates to attend the meeting at Pueblo on June 27th to organize a state league, was postponed until the next regular meeting.

Mrs. Hannah V. Grimes, mother of Mrs. Boylan, Mrs. Jenness and Mrs. Sutherland, died yesterday. Her funeral will take place from her late residence, No. 11 North Walsatch avenue, on Friday afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

About fifteen miles of grading has been completed on the Rock Island east of Granger, and nearly all the heavy work between that place and this city has been finished with the exception of the big cut at the old fair grounds.

Mr. Thomas Hughes, in order to accommodate his constantly increasing business, has found it necessary to place a neat and light delivery wagon on the streets. He is now prepared to fill and deliver orders for groceries at the shortest notice.

The remains of Mr. D. H. Littlefield were sent yesterday to his former home at Alfred, Me., for interment. The body was escorted to the Denver and Rio Grande railway depot by fifty members of the P. O. S. of A., to which organization the deceased belonged.

Reserved seats for the engagement of Harrison & Rogers' My Geraldine company at opera house next Friday and Saturday evenings can be secured at the Midland cigar store. Popular prices of admission will be charged. On Friday evening they will produce the great military drama "The Paymaster" and Saturday evening Bartley Campbell's best play—"My Geraldine."

The Odd Fellows' excursion that leaves Colorado Springs over the Midland railway to-morrow morning at 8 o'clock, will give strangers and visitors a fine opportunity to take a trip through the Rocky mountains, and of viewing the great snowy range. Returning home, a stop of an hour and a half will be made at Idlewild, in Eleven-mile canon, where delightful picnicing grounds have been selected, and another stop of an hour at Cascade Canon will also be made.

The Denver Republican has the following to say of Harrison and Rogers in "Paymaster," who appear at the opera house on Friday and Saturday of this week: "Harrison & Rogers' great sensational military drama of 'The Paymaster' continues to draw large houses at the Tabor, and is received with applause by the delighted audiences. A more successful performance has seldom been witnessed at the opera house. Last night Mr. Harrison made the leap from the top of the tower in the prison escape in the second act, a distance of twenty-three feet and six inches, actual measurement, and was rewarded by a terrific round of applause and a call before the curtain. In the rescue scene in the fourth act Miss Adams and Mr Harrison were twice called before the curtain.

The advance sale of seats for the ball game this afternoon indicates the largest attendance of the season and the game will no doubt be a closely contested one as the home team is smarting under its defeat of Thursday, and is anxious to redeem itself, while the Denver team comes with strong hopes of winning since the defeat of the home team by a Denver club. The grand stand has been covered and portion of the game boys notice [illegible] will be amply protected from both. This will doubtless be appreciated by a large number of lovers of the game who have often refrained from going on account of threatening weather. As to-day is a legal holiday it is to be hoped that the stores will close generally in the afternoon and give every one a chance to see a good game of ball. Parties wishing to secure their seats in advance, to avoid the rush, can procure them at Bell's drug store till one o'clock. Ferguson and McMahon will occupy the points for the home team. Denver failed to send the positions of their team in time for publication.

BIRTH.

GRIMES—In this city, on the 28th inst., Hannah Mylne Grimes, aged 81 years and 2 months.

Funeral services will take place on Friday afternoon at two o'clock, from her late residence, No. 11 North Walsatch avenue.

The Granger Land and Town Co.

Now Offers For Sale the Entire

Town Site of Granger,

EL PASO COUNTY, COLORADO.

GRANGER is situated on the line of the Denver, Texas & Gulf R. R., about 18 miles northeast of Colorado Springs, in the center of the best Agricultural District in Colorado. The rainfall is sufficient to perfect good crops, and irrigation is entirely unnecessary. All the available Land within a radius of twenty-five miles has been taken up by bona fide settlers, and improvements are rapidly being made on all the occupied land.

Granger has one of the best Town Sites in the State. It commands an extended view in every direction. The site is almost perfectly level, with a slight fall to the southeast. Water is obtainable within 10 feet of the surface on the entire Town Site. The streets are all 80 feet in width, and the lots are all 50x150, excepting the business lots, which are 25x150 feet. The town lies on both sides of the railroad. The Surveyed Line of THE CHICAGO AND ROCK ISLAND RAILROAD Runs Parallel with that of the DENVER, TEXAS & GULF RAILROAD through the Center of the Town, and forms a Junction with the latter at this point, and will be the Construction Headquarters of Rock Island Extension in Colorado. Granger is destined to become an important town in the near future by reason of its location. It is an Objective Point on the lines of all the Railroads now heading for the Rocky Mountains, and also from the fact that it is located in a Rich and Fertile Region, where good water is reached at a shallow depth. It is an important Shipping point on the D., T. & G. R. R. for a large section of country. In the matter of business handled Granger ranks third on the line of the road.

The lots will be sold on the popular Allotment Plan, as follows:

PRICE: $25.00 Each.

The drawing for lots, due notice of which will be given, will occur not later than June 1st next, and will be conducted by a competent committee selected by the certificate holders. The company will include in the drawing every alternate lot in the entire town site as platted, beginning with lot 1 in each block, reserving only numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 18 and 19 in block 1; number 13 in block 2; numbers 1, 21 and 22 in block 11; numbers 17, 18 and 32 in block 12; numbers 15 and 16 in block 21; number 18 in block 22; number 17 in block 34; numbers 1, 2 and 3 in block 41, and block 49.

All these lots have been sold and decided. The object in reserving thus each alternate lot throughout the entire plat, and selling the other at the low price of $25, when there is not a lot in the entire site but what is well worth $100 (some of the reserved lots above mentioned have been sold at this figure), is to enhance the value of property reserved by inducing the purchasers to build and improve over the entire plat. After the drawing prices will be advanced on lots reserved. Lots will be for sale for only a limited time at the following places:
